Editors Dispatch: On Tuesday the 12th instant a meeting previously advertised was held at this place, and appointed a full delegation to the Conservative Democratic Convention to be held on the 4th of August at Richmond. The meeting was large and enthusiastic, and many persons took part in the same who have heretofore been considered Stalwarts on the other side, but they are stauneh Democrats, and will not swallow the Republican mixed ticket, General A. L. Pridemore was called upon by the meeting and made a short speech announcing his purpose to oppose Cameron, Lewis, and Blair on the stump until the election. His strictures upon Lewis were received with applause, and this from the "stronghold" is sufficient to show bow the tide is setting in against the mixed ticket. On Saturday the 16th Instant Cameron spoke here to about 150 persons, but his speech fell dull and heavy and created no enthusiasm. It was easy to see that "the times were sadly out of joint" with the leaders. Colonel Cameron discussed the constitute of the personal persona questions advanced by him from a much higher plane than has been heretofore occupied by speakers on his side; but it was our best speakers he must come out badly Long bridge to a point some distance worsted.
